Product description

A next position in the series New Music In Eastern Europe implemented together with the publishing house Bôlt Records. An album dedicated to the work of Octavian Nemescu – one of the 20th century's classics, underestimated by the phonographic industry. Octavian Nemescu (born 1940) is the last living representative of the "golden series" (George Enescu, Stefan Niculescu, Aurel Stroe, Tiberiu Olah, Myriam Marbe, and Anatol Vieru) and the leading creator of the second (and last) Romanian avant-garde. In opposition to the "Darmstadt" orientation of the creators of the first avant-garde, this formation has set itself the goal of discovering a common "pre-defined" tradition of all music. This quest led to the Romanian branches of spectral music and archetypal music.
